TWO TEACHERS ARRIVE.

Miss Exum of Vaughn, Miss teacher of Domestic Science and Art, and Prof. J. H. Johns of Bowling Green, Ky., teacher of Chemistry and Physics and Commercial Course arrived last night. They have come a dispatch from the foreign office, little early in order to investigate the work and preliminaries for the coming sessions of work.

London, Aug. 29.—British troops standing like a stone wall in the van of second defensive allies have driven Germans back to Chimay on Belgian soil. This news together with the naval victory announced late yesterday caused great rejoicing here. Dispatch telling of the victory of English troops is meagre but indicates that the armies under General Von Buelow and Gen. Von Hausen which were yesterday reported pursuing Franco-British allies, were forced back across miles from Miran where the English opened battle to Chimay.

LET US HAVE PEACE

Editor Eagle:

I am impressed this morning to speak through the columns of your paper to the people of Dothan relative to the unfortunate and deplorable strife which is existing between many of the most prominent citizens of the town, and which, like a pestilence, is keeping people and capital away to the material and moral hurt of the community.

To be specific, I refer to the struggle between the churches and the municipal authorities; the class of people who would reform the hearts and lives of men by force, and the class who will not be reformed in this un-Christian manner.

The Sunday School lesson for tomorrow is indeed timely and well might each class heed it. In this lesson is found the teaching of the Master as to His followers' relation to civil government. "Render unto the civil powers those things which are the civil powers' and unto God those things which are God's."

While the conduct of the civil authorities in not enforcing the laws on the statute books, without favor or fear, impartially and justly is not in any sense to be condoned, the reporting of the followers of the meek and lowly Nazarene who said "Resist not evil," but "Love thy neighbor as thyself," to material, selfish or any non-spiritual means to force obedience to law, is even more worthy of condemnation on account of the greater spiritual insight His followers are assumed to have.

The province of the church is in every form; let us love our fellow the spiritual and whenever it has attempted to enter the material sphere, rather than attempt to oppression, resistance, criminality, make them good with material cruelty, and increased activity has been the outcome. Let the members of a church be regenerated, in our action, and we will have live the life of the Master, turn the other cheek when one is smitten. All that I have said above has been had the beams removed from your eyes, rather than attempt to strike your own eyes, meet every man or woman, regardless of his or her position in a spirit of consecration, of high moral, financial or religious criticism, implied or expressed, or condition, on the plane of Christian say claim of man or individual. But fellowship and real sympathy, serve to be so taken.

In love, without fear or hope of reward, forget money and its temptations to debase, prefer not the banker to the street cleaner, see not the kind of clothes a man wears to church, or the style of hat a woman wears on the street, be just to all men, refrain from illegal interference, judge as men, but be charitable to all men, and the spirit of evil will vanish from our midst, strife will cease and we will have that peace which passeth understanding.

I am impressed to say that much of the trouble with social conditions, (used in this broader sense of the term), in Dothan, is in the refusal of our professed Christians to follow simply, meekly, without thought of self or fear of public opinion, the clearly expressed teachings and the impenetrable life of the Master, Jesus the Christ. This teacher was a lover of fallen humanity. To the woman, brought to him directly from the greatest social crime a woman could at that time and now commit, he had only words of compassion, of sympathy, of love, of forgiveness. For her account, His implied charge of their own sin was enough to send them away with bowed heads and shame-filled hearts.

Then, fellow disciples, of the Master, let us sheath the sword; let us cease our railings, bickering, accusations; let us live close to our fellows, helping them bear their burden and judging them not; let us teach and preach the words of love and truth and life; let us keep ourselves unclouded by materiality in every form; let us love our fellow into ways of righteousness as the tempted to enter the material sphere, rather than attempt to oppression, resistance, criminality, make them good with material cruelty, and increased activity has been the outcome. Let the members of a church be regenerated, in our action, and we will have live the life of the Master, turn the other cheek when one is smitten. All that I have said above has been had the beams removed from your eyes, rather than attempt to strike your own eyes, meet every man or woman, regardless of his or her position in a spirit of consecration, of high moral, financial or religious criticism, implied or expressed, or condition, on the plane of Christian say claim of man or individual. But fellowship and real sympathy, serve to be so taken.

In love, without fear or hope of reward, forget money and its temptations

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the nomination as alderman from ward 1, subject to the action of the democratic primary, September 14th.

WHAT'S THE LINE?

The Montgomery Journal says in part: "If the governor should agree to call an extraordinary session of the legislature at this time especially for the purpose of trying to find ways and means of protecting the farmer from losses due to the war."

to provide ways and means for the farmer to hold his cotton while the prices are depressed—conditioned upon the promise of the members of both houses that they would not take other questions, save, perhaps, enable Jefferson county to exact a law putting in force its constitutional inhibition against the tax system, would not the condition be complied with?"

Well, we suppose it would.

But the part we are interested in is how would the convening of the legislature give the Alabama farmer any relief? How would it help him to hold his cotton for a better price? Would the state be expected to stand behind the farmer of Alabama, and help uphold the price, unless the state furnished something more substantial?

We fail to see what the legislature could do to relieve the situation, unless it acted in conjunction with the legislatures of the various Cotton States. And the trouble with all this talk is that it takes too long to do anything. Help from the government will hardly reach us in time to be of as much benefit to the farmer as it would, had the movement been started earlier.

You see, last year, when the crop moving fund was available for Alabama, the Alabama farmer had sold his cotton crop. It was too late to relieve him much, but the fact that it was known help was coming, helped the situation, some, evidently.

The farmer needs help, but he doesn't expect it from the convening of the legislature in extraordinary session. The meeting together of the various heads of business, bankers, and farmers, of the South, would probably get relief quicker.

When the one thing of vegetables, which all of us can raise plenty of without being docked for lost time, we can make it is much better to have some to sell, than something to do with it, and we are sure that Washington will be better represented in future.

WANTS A CITY MANAGER.

Tuscaloosa has had the commission form of government for about three years, and now there is a decided sentiment there in favor of going further along the line of progress and employing a "city manager" instead of having three commissioners. The News, in discussing the plan says:

"In brief, the plan for government by a city manager is almost identical with that employed by large business enterprises, including banks and big corporations. In municipal affairs, the manager would correspond to the president, the councilmen to the directors, and the voters to the stockholders. The voters would elect their councilmen or directors, who in turn would choose the city manager and determine the general policies of the government. The manager would be an executive officer with full power to oversee the city's business and carry it on with the same economy that is practiced by the heads of private enterprises. He would receive adequate pay; the councilmen would serve free."

Just as commission government is an improvement over the aldermanic form, so it is claimed the system of having a city manager is a distinct advance over the commission form, and that insofar as government is concerned, it is the latest and most approved way of effectively administering city affairs and getting results at a lower cost than in any other way devised. We would like to see the experiment tried in Tuscaloosa. Certainly it seems logical and reasonable that the manager plan would prove everything its advocates claim for it. —Mobile Register.

NO EXCUSE FOR COTTON NEER-FRICKS.

Is there any caribly excuse for the present price of cotton seed? The poor cotton grower catches it on all sides. At a time when everything into which cotton seed goes commands good prices, down goes the price of raw material, to just about half of what they sold at last year. This is apparently a cruel advantage taken of the poor, for the advancing merchant seldom takes over the cotton seed from the customer, but allows him the proceeds to live upon until another crop year. The small farmers and negro tenants are the ones to suffer most from this inexcusable depression of prices. A cold blooded calculation would seem to have suggested a more liberal policy from the manufacturers toward the producers, but perhaps they know their business better than we do. The price of sugar is an exceedingly small thing as compared to the situation the cotton seed producer is now obliged to face. —Demopolis Times.

The Mayor of Dothan in replying to the public accusation made against himself and other officials by preacher McNeill asserted in effect that his town was filled with men who were in the habit of insuring their houses at a big price and then burning them for the insurance. We can't think that the Mayor was sincere in that statement. Surely he does not have no poor an opinion of his fellow citizens. —Tuskegee News.

Hard times seems to have reached as far as Washington, and now a congressman can't go back home and spend a few months, visiting his folks, or travel in Europe, without being docked for lost time. War in Europe, it is thought, has something to do with it, and we are sure that Washington will be better represented in future.

PROGRAM OF THE WAR.

Aftermath.

Disparate fighting continues on the French frontier. The Germans have proved too strong for the army of the allies, but on both sides officers and men are displaying the highest type of military daring.

Congratulations for bravery seem to have been the order of the day. General Joffre, in a telegram to Field Marshall Sir John French paid a glowing tribute to the heroic qualities of the British in action. From the British war office in London congratulations were sent to the French commander for the valor of his troops in a struggle against the superior numbers of the enemy. The aged Francis Joseph, emperor of Austria, telegraphed congratulations to Emperor William and the young heroes, the crown prince and Prince Ruprecht, "as well as the incomparably brave German army."

Every day the German battalions are demonstrating their high state of efficiency. The German army is a wonderful fighting machine and its whirlwind action is the result of its perfect discipline.

The Germans will soon be moving on to Paris. The new French ministry is made up of men of courage and ability and they have already inspired their army with fresh hope and determination. Paris is being put in readiness for a long siege. It will be defended with force, spirit and desperation.

Lord Kitchener thinks the war will last for some time. At first he said it would continue at least 18 months. Later in his speech in the House of Lords a few nights ago, he expressed the opinion that hostilities would last three years or more. The best chance for the allies will be in a long drawn out war. Lord Kitchener's statement touching the probable duration of the war is, therefore a case of the fish being father to the thought.

That the war will last longer than lockers on in general said it would, is now widely believed. But it will be over in much less time than three years.

The number of killed and wounded in the battle now raging will not be known for some time. When the slain are counted the number will be appalling.

While you are forming habits, get the pay-as-you-go habit. It's a good one. When you only buy things you have the money to pay for, you are doing no one an injury. If you buy goods on a credit, and don't pay for them promptly, the man who sold them is liable to be pinched. If you let his goods alone till you have the money to pay for them, he isn't going to suffer, for the merchants with goods on their shelves, are not the merchants who fail, ordinarily. If they do fail, their creditors are not caught with an empty bag to hold.

It is likely that the office of jail and prison inspector will be abolished. There has come no special good, it appears, from this official, except that it provides a salary for Dr. Oates, and assistants, and the people are tired of continuing needless offices at the expense of the people.

The town of Cullman hasn't been depopulated, has it, since the German uprising?

A Hotel is Only a Hotel. No matter what may be said about the drawbacks of the hotel, a hotel is a cold place for a family. The restlessness manifested by many women of today may have weakened family ties for a time. But there is certainly that young people will marry. After marriage they will reside in a cottage of a flat. The stay-at-homes will ever long for their own fireside. The persistent travelers will lose regard for the home. With the tourists from the Old World, they will be content to ensure the accommodations offered by the hotel man. —Troy Record.

Old-Time Wages.

The history of Rumford gives the following account of how farm work was paid among the early settlers of Rumford: Young men who went out to work received $5 per month, for the six busiest months of the year, which was considered good wages, though an extra holiday sometimes earned $10. Every sick day and every holiday was deducted. It was also specified that no cash should be paid, but settlement to be made in products of the farm. Girls received for services 50 to 75 cents a week. If the work was spinning wool, the day's work was five skeins of warp or six skeins of filling. Calico was 75 cents a yard. —Lewisston Journal.

Jam, From "Jamaica."

Jam seems to take its name from Jamaica, and is comparatively a modern luxury. Galt, in his "Annals of the Parish," states that the fashion of jam making was introduced into Scotland about 1750, when berry bushes were planted by "some of our young men that had been sailors coming from Jamaica," and the condiment was valued in the first place chiefly as "an excellent medicine for a sore throat." A writer in Hume's "Every-day Book," in 1820, deplored the fact that jam could not be "purchased at the shops as other articles of consumption are."

"Madame" Fitted Him.

The friends of a certain senator say that, although it is admitted that someone used senate stationery to promote a tanning scheme, it is very unjust to make any charge of dishonesty against the kindly old man. To illustrate his character, they tell this story: He was one of the funeral party that accompanied the body of a distinguished senator to its burial place. On the return trip he went early to bed. The next morning his round, red face, devoid of hair, gentle of expression and wrinkled, was thrust out of his berth as the Pullman conductor passed by. "Are we on time, captain?" called out the senator in his thin piping voice. "Just on time, madame," said the conductor, as he lifted his hat and passed on.

"Israfel" Angel of Music.

Israfel or Israfil, in Mohammedan mythology, was the angel of music, who possessed the most melodious voice of all God's creatures. This is the angel who is to sound the resurrection trumpet, and will ravish the ears of the saints in Paradise. Israfil, Gabriel and Michael, were the three angels that warned Abraham of Sodom's destruction. In the Koran we read: "and the angel Israfil, whose heart-strings are a lute, and who has the sweetest voice of all God's creatures."

Hamlet in South Africa.

It can hardly be expected that "poet imperialism" will be confined to pictures in the future. A friend writes from South Africa that some genius out there has done "Hamlet" in the Tait and quotes the following example, which seems to me extremely poet-imperialistic. Here it is: Hamlet—"Wie is u?" Ghost—"Ik is u papa's spook."

15. Then went the Pharisees, and took counsel how they might entangle him in his talk.

16. And they sent out unto him their disciples with the Herodians, saying, Master, we know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God in truth; neither carest thou for any man: for thou regardest not the praise of men.

17. Tell us therefore, What thinkest thou? Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar, or not?

18. But Jesus perceived their malice, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19. Show me the tribute money.
And they brought unto him a penny.

20. And he saith unto them, Whose is this image and superscrip-tion?

21. They say unto him, Caesar's.
Then saith he unto them, Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's.

22. When they had heard these words, they marvelled, and left him, and went their way.

Successful Menop.

"We must have a beautiful name for the baby," said the lady mother something that sounds like poetry and is not at all commonplace.

"Well," replied the lady friend, "I'm going my best to help you make a solution. Here's a list of the names of all the apartment houses in town."

Washington Star.

Kept at the Office.

Mrs. Brown always looks very dubious when her husband comes home a little later than usual and says he has been "kept at the office." She never looks as if she believed the excuse, which, as a matter of fact, is quite genuine. But some women are incapable of realizing that their husbands really are kept late at the office sometimes, and nowadays competition is so keen that a man can't afford to go off at the tick of the clock if he wishes to keep his position. The sensible wife doesn't make a fuss when he is "kept late." She just notices that he looks more tired than usual, and lets him have his dinner and a snack after in peace and quiet. And you usually find that the husband who receives this sort of treatment is never late home if he can possibly help it.

Vikings Made Discoveries.

About eight years ago in Washington, D. C., a Norwegian ship was unearthed a ship of the early Viking period. It was completely buried in the earth, and when discovered was found to belong to the grave of a Viking queen, who died about A. D. 800.
Horses, carriages, and sledges were also discovered in the grave, together with all kinds of household furniture and utensils and personal ornaments.
The whole forming a picture of the state of northern civilization centuries ago. Among the other articles found were two dark rectangular masses, which proved to be wax that had apparently been used for the waxing of sewing thread. This wax has recently been chemically examined by Dr. J. Bebbelen, who found that its specific gravity and its melting point agreed with that of the beeswax of the present day.

Atavism in Dogs.

Dogs, probably the earliest of domesticated animals, when transferred to a tropical country, such as central Africa, lose in a few generations most of the characteristics they have acquired in Europe, and revert more and more to the type of the jackal and the wolf. Then their ears, whatever their breed, tend to become pointed, their coats turn sandy or rufous and their bark becomes a howl. Some attempt has been made to show that this is the effect of disease and resembles the effect of malaria on the human constitution. Yet the Egyptian dog of Phar-aohic times possessed, as is seen by the monuments, these very characteristics; and as he was certainly domesticated before the European animal, it is probable that these are original features of the race.

Fights.
Johann Gottlieb Fichte was one of the greatest men of his day, one of the great men of all time. There is not room in this narrow space for a list of his works; but one can get his "Philosophy" and other works at any public library. Fichte wrote not merely for his own day, but for all time, and the trend of the world's thought right now is along the lines he marked out. It will pay any one to get acquainted with the great German's works.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother as Desk Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Brucher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months."

"I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles."

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

FREE FAIR TICKETS

With $5.00 or over, cash trade, we will give a free ticket to the great Dothan Agricultural Fair to be held October 26 to 31, inclusive. Don't fail to ask for your free ticket.

This good store has made it a rule to never "boast" in its ads. "What we are doing, what we are willing to do, and all the many good things our customers say about us"—would take up too much of our advertising space. We are too modest. We find that people want store news when they read ads in newspapers.

But we do say that we are for anything and everything that is for the betterment and advancement of Dothan and for the good of Houston and surrounding counties. We feel that the part of our profits it takes to buy the fair tickets, that we will get back in the volume of business that the Fair will bring us, and we believe that the success of the first year has a great deal to do with the Fair's future success. So if we did not expect to give free tickets again, we figured it would be a wise thing to strain a point and give them at the beginning—the first year.

We believe that a month before the Fair that some means will be planned to handle our cotton crop, and at a fair price, too, and that our farmers and merchants, and everybody, will be in good spirits and enjoying as great prosperity as though there was no great war in Europe.

We believe that the Fair will be the biggest and best ever held in this section of the country. This good store, that has always been looked upon as the reliable Dry Goods and Ladies' and Children's Furnishing Store in this section, is very optimistic, and expecting to see a great Fair and planning for a great fall business.

FOR YOUNG LADIES

going away to school. You will find everything ready here to make your selections. There are many things you will want to buy before going away.

Rare Books Fetch High Prices.

Ben Jonson's works were to have been the sale of the fourth portion of the Huth Library commenced at Sotheby's in London. The only copy known on large paper of "The Fall of Brutus" realized $1,500. It was increased in value by being an autograph copy, containing in Ben Jonson's writing the dedication: "To my perfect friend, Mr. Francis Crane, I erect this pillar of friendship, and leave it as the eternal witness of my love.—Ben Jonson." The fourth book printed with a date, "Julius Caesar," fetched $1,200, and the second of the original unauthentic quarto editions of "John, King of England," a play used by Shakespeare, realized $150.

About Sound Waves.

One of those scientists who are always developing apparent paradoxes in thought has come forward with the statement that sound itself is not extraneous, but exists only because of nerve. In other words, if the ears of the human race were removed tomorrow the world would be absolutely noiseless to humanity. The contention is that the sound waves, traveling at a rate of 1,000 feet a second, create invisible ripples in the air just as a pool ripples when a rock is thrown into it. The greater the force of the waves the louder the sound. But there is no noise until these sound waves strike the sensitive nerves of the ear. Thus, reverting to the original proposition, the air waves themselves would be noiseless did they not operate in conjunction with the human sense of hearing.

No Two Finger Prints Alike.

And every human being is the master of finger prints is different from every other. Twins are not twins with respect to these unvarying identification marks. The little tow-headed girls who have to be bled and red ribboned to tell them apart are as unlike in the finger prints as if they belonged to entirely different fathers and mothers. Family resemblance is a joke when you come to put the finger tip prints under the magnifying glass. The digit marks make no account of blue blood, aristocracy, democracy or physiognomy. They're just crevices in the skin.

Effective Punishment.

One of the first judges—real judges—of Dandridge put in operation many odd ideas of corrective punishment. If a man was brought before him charged with shooting up a peaceful place without provocation this judge used to delight in calling off half a dozen good shots, whose business it was to fire all around the accused, who was made to stand up against a wall. The closer the shots and the more scared the accused the better the judge liked it. If the accused demurred against this little threatened punishment he was formally ordered to stand up and the maximum sentence under the code was read out to him. In the case of a prisoner who might not be impressed with the target practice sentence there were other penalties, such as a five mile gallop on a tricky horse, with the legs of the accused tied under the horse's belly and a saddle made of fair sized stones wrapped in a blanket for his seat. Put that against this meant again the extreme code punishment.

N. H. McCallum Looks Forward to Large Crowds During Her Week's Stay at the Rexall Store.

Will Give Number of Free Facial Massages and Personal Advice in Your Home by Appointment.

An opportunity which is sure to prove as beneficial as it is rare will be afforded the women of Dothan and vicinity when Miss E. Hardy, the much talked of Beauty Specialist, now touring Alabama as representative of the United Drug Company of Boston,—creators of the many Harmony Beauty Requisites and equally well known toilet preparations, starts her public demonstrations for the week commencing Monday, Aug. 31, as the guest of N. H. McCallum, proprietor of the Rexall Store and sole distributor of the Harmony Toilet Products in Dothan.

Miss Hardy contends that it is the privilege of every woman to take advantage of anything that will tend to lend a touch of added beauty to the skin; but, says Miss Hardy, "extreme care should be exercised to choose only such preparations that really do help nature in the beautifying of your complexion."

"Of course no one will question the assertion that the woman with the clean, well preserved skin is a much admired person anywhere," and she continues, "If the woman of today would only take the care to treat the skin to the benefits of a good massage that she takes in reading the household section of the paper, we would see fewer wrinkles, and more, yes, a great deal more women young at fifty."

We have no doubt about Miss Hardy's ability to offer the women of Dothan some very valuable advice, and Mr. McCallum will, we feel sure, have a store full of the "fairer sex" during Miss Hardy's stay at the Rexall Store.

Mr. McCallum tells us that he has a real beauty treat in store for the women of Dothan, so you'd bet-

Tires at Before-War Prices

GOODYEAR PRICES
IT IS FULLY TODAY TO PAY MORE

30 x 3 Plain Tread	$11.70
30 x 3 1/2 Plain Tread	$13.75
34 x 4 Plain Tread	$21.25
36 x 4 1/2 Plain Tread	$35.00
37 x 5 Plain Tread	$41.95

There exists now a new, compelling reason for buying Goodyear tires. It results from War conditions.

These leading tires—built of extra fine rubber, in the same way as always—are selling today at June prices.

You will find today a very wide difference between most tire prices and Goodyears.

Due to Quick Action

Early in August—when war began—the world's rubber markets seemed closed to us. Rubber prices doubled almost over night.

Men could see no way to pay for rubber abroad, and no way to bring it in. We, like others—in that panic—were forced to higher prices. But we have since gone back to prices we charged before the war, and this is how we did it:

We had men in London and Singapore when the war broke out. The larger part of the world's rubber supply comes through there. We cabled them to buy up the pick of the rubber. They bought—before the advance—1,500,000 pounds of the finest rubber there.

Nearly all this is now on the way to us. And it means practically all of the extra-grade rubber obtainable abroad.

Today we have our own men in Colombo, Singapore and Para. Those are the world's chief sources of rubber. So we are pretty well assured of a constant supply, and our pick of the best that's produced.

We were first on the ground. We were quick in action. As a result, we shall soon have in storage an almost record supply of this extra grade of rubber.

And we paid about June prices.

Now Inferior Grades Cost Double

About the only crude rubber available now for many makers is inferior. In ordinary times, the best tire makers refuse it. Much of it had been rejected. But that "off rubber" now sells for much more than we paid for the best.

The results are these:

Tire prices in general are far in advance of Goodyears. And many tire makers, short of supplies, will be forced to use second-grade rubber.

Be Careful Now

In Goodyears we pledge you the same grade tire as always. And that grade won for Goodyears the top place in Tiredom—the largest sale in the world.

And, for the time being, our prices are the same as before the war. We shall try to keep them there.

We accept no excessive orders, but dealers will be kept supplied. And we charge them, until further notice, only ante-bellum prices.

That means that Goodyears—the best tires built—are selling way below other tires.

HOW ENGLAND IS FIGHTING

Newcastle, Pa., Aug. 29.—George D. Bide of this city has just received a letter from Henry W. Thornton, the American brought over last winter to show the English how to run the Great Eastern Railway. Mr. Thornton is now engaged in assisting the British Government to expedite the shipment of troops. He writes:

"It is a wonderful but terrible experience for me. Terrible not that we are in danger personally, but that because it is pathetic to see the chap you liked, pay with last night pick up his rifle, his family good-by and calmly join the colors."

"All England has men an one man. The internal discord which threatened to disturb the empire have completely evaporated and the Irish will lose no opportunity to be in the thick of the fray. Nearly every able bodied Englishman has enlisted. They come from all quarters and classes and quietly and grimly go about the business of war. There is something deadly in the atmosphere which looks as had for the Kaiser as it did for Napoleon a hundred years ago. This will be a fight to the finish and the impression is that England will not rest until the military power of Germany has forever ceased to be a menace to the peace of the world."

"The spirit of the French is wonderful. A man just from Paris said he was in the suburbs when the mobilization order was posted. A man passed by on a bicycle, dismounted, read the notice and turned to leave."

He was presumably a servant, and his mistress, who was passing in a car, said: 'Jean, you won't leave us at once?' Touching his hat the man said, 'Oui, madame; au revoir: a Berlin!' and off he rode to join his regiment."

"The railways of England have been taken over by the government, but are operated by the existing staff. An executive committee of general managers acts as a medium between the War Office and the roads and issues the necessary instructions for movements. We have worked out all of our mobilization schedules and are now in the thick of the moving of the troops. We are doing our job on the Great Eastern splendidly, and I am proud of my gang. They are up on their toes and act like a bunch of Americans. The entire outfit is pulling like one man."

"I saw the German ambassador off yesterday. He is Prince Lichter got ready for Miss Hardy's arrival, ladies.

On Wearing Goggles.
Safety Engineering has this to say about the wearing of goggles by industrial workers: In order to reduce injuries to the eyes of industrial workers, two requirements are of primary importance—to provide the goggles which meet the needs of the operator, and insistence that the goggles be worn at all times when in the danger zone. The fact should not be overlooked that not only must the lenses be best suited to meet the conditions of work, but the goggles must not occasion discomfort. If the goggles cause discomfort to the wearer he is apt to remove it, and many eyes have been injured and lost from this cause. An entirely satisfactory goggles will seldom be removed by the wearer who appreciates that an eye can never be replaced.

Judge "Made Good."
A Dever Judge on one occasion, pettled by the obstructive tactics of a lawyer defending a case before him, intimated that the lawyer had a very meager knowledge of the law. The lawyer respectfully insisted that it was the judge's method of trying the case and his rulings that retarded the case. The judge left the bench, invited the lawyer to sit as judge, and used half an hour in properly presenting the lawyer's case as a lawyer. He uncovered so much more law than the lawyer on the bench possessed that the offending counselor stepped down and acknowledged his error. He had not found a good reason for ruling against the judge in a single argument made by the latter while pleading.

Recovering Rapidly.
When the doctor came down from seeing her husband he told her that her good man would shortly be on the road to convalescence. "What's that?" she asked. "I mean he will be getting better," said the doctor. "You will know because he will get irritable —extremely so." When he called the next day the doctor found the devoted woman as happy as a sandboy, smiling and singing to herself. "And how are we today?" she asked. "Oh, he's getting better all right," she answered.
"He came down to the kitchen this morning and threw a coffee pot at the cook, and shot our old house dog because it wouldn't say 'Please!' So I cooked him a dish of tripe and onions and he has gone back to work. It's wonderful how you doctors know things!"

LAUGH AND BE MERRY.

Laugh and be merry; remember, better the world with a song, better the world with a blow in the teeth of a wrong.
Laugh, for the time is brief, a thread the length of a span, Laugh and be proud to belong to the old proud pageant of man.
Laugh and be merry; remember in olden time,
God made heaven and earth for joy
He took in a rhyme,
Made them, and gild them full with the strong red wine of His mirth,
The splendid joy of the stars; the joy of the earth.
So we must laugh and drink from the deep blue cup of the sky, Join the jubilant song of the great stars sweeping by:
Laugh, and battle, and work, and drink of the wine outpoured, In the dear green earth, the sign of the joy of the Lord.

Laugh and be merry together like brothers and sisters, while in the rooms of a beautiful inn,
Glad all the dancing steps and the hit of the music ends, Laugh till the game is played, and be you merry, my friends.
—John Waples.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY.

"After a long and beautiful life, when she was sitting in sunshine, old and sweet, at 87 years of age, the Mother of Frances Willard, said to one who asked what she would have done differently as a Mother of her life to live over and all kinds of fancy work; for again, 'I should blame less and water color, oil and china painting, and for growing plants and cut flowers; so there will be a place for all and every woman in Dothan can compete in at least one of these lines.

Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Passmore, who have been at the Walker House for the past two years, have moved to their beautiful new home on Linn street, which has just been completed.

From information are from the Dothan Journal:
The new home of Dothan, is owned by L. H. Moore.

she will return in a few days to again be the guest of Mrs. Moore.

Miss Ruth Craig, of Prattville, Ala., is the attractive guest of Miss Louise Morgan.

Miss Ezum of Mississippi, who will assist at the teachers' institute next week, arrived in the city last night. She is at Mrs. Walker's on North Oates street.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Gellerstedt moved today into their new home on North Bell street.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gelson will be at home with Mr. and Mrs. Eric Gellerstedt until their home is completed.

CONCERNING THE FAIR.

It is very gratifying to know that so many of the Dothan ladies are interested themselves in the woman's department of the Fair to be held October 26th to the 31st inclusive.

This is Dothan's first attempt at a Fair and all Dothan people should feel a pride in the movement and be willing to give of their best efforts to make it a success.

The premium lists will soon be ready for wholesale distribution, and those who have in charge the woman's department are very anxious to have every woman in Dothan read them carefully and put on display at least one article.

In division 1, of the woman's department, there will be prizes awarded for number of machine made button holes, for button holes, darning and all kinds of fancy work; for water color, oil and china painting,
and for growing plants and cut flow-
all and every woman in Dothan can compete in at least one of these
lines.

If all will make an effort there will be no doubt about the success of the woman's department and it must be a success for Dothan has never made a failure.

Or Her Neighbors.
Even if she had to have a trained nurse for her own children a woman always knows just what to do for her daughter's little ones.

Good Excuses.

Two men were drinking together when the conversation turned on how to feed and train canaries, which happened to be their profession. They were telling each other the merits of their birds, which were to go in a show, and both were sure of winning the prize. At last one of them said, in a sorrowful tone: "Ah, Tom, if I had only got the one I had last week I should not have much trouble in winning, but I had taught him to sing, 'Home, Sweet Home,' so much to perfection that the tears rolled down his breast till he got exhausted, full of his perch and was drowned in his own tears." "Oh," said Tom, "that's nothing. One night my bird was singing 'The Village Blacksmith' so true that the sparks flew out of his eyes, set fire to the cage, and before we had time to put the flames out the poor little wretch got roasted to death."

Luminescence of Nitrogen.
It has been found that nitrogen, vigorously and spectroscopically pure, acquires a continuous luminescence, during the electric discharge, and therefore this phenomenon can no longer be attributed to the presence of traces of oxygen. In the presence of metallic vapors, such as those of mercury, sodium or potassium, says the Scientific American, the phenomenon is not produced owing to the ni-trogen's being attacked by the metallic vapors, forming a combination of the metal with nitrogen. The presence of oxygen, which oxidizes the nitrogen, hinders their action on the active nitrogen and renders its formation possible.
